To whom it may concern,

This week we welcomed Paul Craft into our childcare service for an incursion. I can truly say that all children and educators shared a connection with Paul. During the incursion Paul was very adaptable and able to keep all of our children engaged. Our children range from the ages of babies to kindergarten, all children were able to interact with Paul.

Over my years in the childcare industry I have seen and booked many incursions. I strongly feel that the information and experiences shared will be very memorable for years to come. When the children came back outside in the afternoon they were asking for Uncle Boomerang. I have also had very positive feedback from families about the information that the children have taken home to share with them.

Paul will definitely be coming back to our service and will be a part of our community. I want to personally thank Paul for being an inspirational leader and sharing his culture with everyone.

Yours sincerely,

Sarah Walters
