To whom it may concern,

Tweed Valley Women's Service has employed Paul Craft over the last three years in the capacity of cultural facilitator, youth worker and men's support worker. Affectionately known as 'Uncle Boomerang' to our Jarjums, Paul has continued to provide us with quality facilitation and leadership at cultural camps, workshop, and after school programs.

Paul is reliable, passionate, knowledgeable and relatable. He has excellent communication skills and can empower others with his words and actions.

Paul utilises storytelling and traditional teaching methods into his facilitation and is able to co-ordinate workshops on a large scale.

Paul was a valuable asset at our last two annual culture and family resilience camps. Both camps were attended by over 100 participants, comprising of vulnerable families with complex needs.

Paul was able to support facilitators calmly and respectfully and showed wonderful leadership.
